Chapter 11

Jointly Administered

ORDER APPROVING (IN PART) TRUSTEE'S APPLICATION
[DKT. NO. 2120] FOR AUTHORITY TO EMPLOY SPECIAL LITIGATION
COUNSEL AND TO MAKE LIMITED MODIFICATION TO THE TERMS OF THE EXISTING RETENTION ORDER FOR COUNSEL TO THE TRUSTEE

Before the Court is the application [dkt. no. 2129] of Joel I. Sher, the Chapter 11 Trustee, to employ the Texas-based national litigation firm of Susman Godfrey, including its partner, Mark Wawro, as special litigation counsel. The Trustee proposes to hire the firm under §328 (a) of the Bankruptcy Code to represent the estate in major litigation pending in this Court against several of the world's largest financial institutions. (Sher v. JP Morgan Chase Funding Inc., et al., Adversary Proceeding No. 11-0340.) (the “Adversary Proceeding”).<sup>1</sup> The Baltimore-based firm of Shapiro, Sher, Guinot and Sandler (the firm in which the Trustee himself is a partner) already has been approved to represent the Trustee and the estate in these jointly-administered Chapter 11 cases [dkt. no. 535]. In the application, the Trustee proposes that Shapiro Sher will act as co-counsel with Susman Godfrey in the litigation.<sup>2</sup> The application does not seek to modify Shapiro Sher’s current fee arrangement for its general representation of the Trustee in these Chapter 11 cases, but it does seek to modify the terms of the firm’s retention for its litigation work with Susman Godfrey in the pending Adversary Proceeding. The fee arrangement proposed for both firms is a reduced hourly rate plus a graduated contingency fee based upon the amount recovered.

The Creditors’ Committee, which is represented by the New York-based firm of Quinn Emanuel and locally by Tydings and Rosenberg, has filed what it deems a “limited” objection [dkt. no. 2140] to the Trustee’s employment application. Like Susman Godfrey, Quinn Emanuel is a national litigation powerhouse, a fact which becomes relevant, as will be seen, because Quinn Emanuel put in an unsuccessful competing bid to represent the Trustee in the Adversary Proceeding on terms that appear to be reasonably comparable to those being proposed by the Trustee for Susman Godfrey and Shapiro Sher. The Committee does not object to the retention of Susman Godfrey; its only objection is to the terms of that firm’s retention. For similar reasons, the Committee also objects to the proposed modification of the terms of the Shapiro Sher retention.

<sup>1</sup> For ease of reference, the Court sometimes refers to the plaintiff as the estate, although the plaintiff actually is Mr. Sher, as Trustee acting on behalf of the estate.

<sup>2</sup> It is not uncommon for trustees in Chapter 11 cases to hire their own firms to represent them and the estate, both generally, and in connection with such adversary litigation as the estate may bring against third parties.

For the reasons that follow, the Court approves the employment application (with one exception) and overrules the Committee's objections (with one exception).

Section 327(a) of the Bankruptcy Code authorizes bankruptcy trustees, with court approval, to "employ one or more attorneys, accountants, appraisers, auctioneers, or other professional persons ... to represent or assist the trustee in carrying out the trustee's duties." 11 U.S.C. §327(a).

Sections 328 and 330 establish a two-tiered system for judicial review and approval of the terms of a professional's retention. Section 330 authorizes a bankruptcy court to award the retained professional "reasonable compensation" based on an after-the-fact consideration of "the nature, the extent, and the value of such services, taking into account all relevant factors." 11 U.S.C. §330(a). In re Smart World Technologies, LLC 552 F.3d 228 (2d Cir. 2009).

Section 328(a), on the other hand, permits a bankruptcy court to forgo a full post-hoc reasonableness inquiry if the court pre-approves the "employment of a professional person under §327 ... on any reasonable terms and conditions of employment, including on a retainer, on an hourly basis, on a fixed or percentage fee basis, or on a contingent fee basis." Smart World citing §328(a).

Section 328 (a) of the Bankruptcy Code provides:

The trustee, or a committee appointed under §1102 of this title, with the court's approval, may employ or authorize the employment of a professional person under §327 or §1103 of this title, as the case may be, on any reasonable terms and conditions of employment, including on a retainer, on an hourly basis, on a fixed or percentage fee basis, or on a contingent fee basis. Notwithstanding such terms and conditions, the court may allow compensation different from the compensation provided under such terms and conditions after the conclusion of such employment, if such terms and conditions prove to have been improvident in light of developments not capable of being anticipated at the time of the fixing of such terms and conditions.

Where a court pre-approves the terms and conditions of the retention under §328(a), its power to amend those terms is constrained. It may only “allow compensation different from the compensation provided under such terms and conditions after the conclusion of such employment, if such terms and conditions prove to have been improvident in light of developments not capable of being anticipated at the time of the fixing of such terms and conditions.” Smart World Technologies at 233-34.

There is a very sound market-driven rationale for making §328(a) arrangements available for top-tier professionals. “If the most competent professionals are to be available for complicated capital restructuring and the development of successful corporate reorganization, they must know what they will receive for their expertise and commitment. Courts must protect those agreements and expectations, once found to be acceptable.” In re Merry-Go-Round Enterprises, Inc., 244 B.R. 327 (Bankr. Md. 2000).

The Committee objects to the terms of the Trustee’s application as being unreasonable on several grounds. At the outset, the Committee asserts that for the law firms to be provided with the protections of an order under §328(a), (as opposed to the lesser protections of a §330 order), the Trustee must show that they, or a comparable firm, would not have undertaken this litigation without them. They argue that the Trustee failed to demonstrate this. To the contrary, however, the Trustee presented convincing evidence on this point. The Trustee proffered that Mr. Wawro, a principal of Susman Godfrey who was present at the hearing, and his firm would undertake representation of the Trustee in the Adversary Proceeding only if granted the more comprehensive protection of §328(a). Mr. Wawro corroborated this point.

Bankruptcy courts look to several (non-exclusive) factors in deciding whether an employment application is reasonable under §328: (1) whether terms of an engagement agreement reflect normal business terms in the marketplace; (2) whether the Debtor and the professionals, are parties with equal bargaining power who engaged in an arms-length negotiation; (3) whether the retention, as proposed, is in the best interests of the estate; (4) whether there is creditor opposition to the retention and retainer provisions; and (5) whether, given the size, circumstances and posture of the case, the amount of any retainer is itself reasonable, including whether any retainer provides the appropriate level of “risk minimization,” especially in light of the existence of any other “risk-minimizing” devices, such as an administrative order and/or a carve-out. In re Insilco Technologies, Inc., 291 B.R. 628 (Bankr. D. Del. 2003).

Factor 1: Whether terms of the engagement agreement reflect normal business terms in the marketplace.

The application proposes to compensate both firms on a combined reduced hourly rate and staggered contingency fee basis. The Court has examined the proposed fee structure in light of the evidence presented by the Trustee, and finds it to be reasonable and to reflect normal market terms. As mentioned, the Trustee proffered at the hearing that he had also interviewed Quinn Emanuel - another national litigation firm - for this litigation engagement. The Trustee presented evidence of the basis upon which Quinn Emanuel (also counsel for the objecting party and present in the courtroom), proposed to take on this Adversary Proceeding. Quinn Emanuel’s terms were at least equivalent to – and arguably more onerous than – the terms proposed by the Trustee for the two firms he decided to employ.

Quinn Emanuel had proposed a not materially dissimilar fee model which included a reduced hourly rate with an increasing fee enhancement percentage (contingency) at designated thresholds. The rates of the professionals who would handle the litigation at Quinn Emanuel ranged from $935 per hour to over $1000 per hour.

Similarly, the Trustee proposes to hire Susman Godfrey and Shapiro Sher on a reduced hourly rate basis, with a contingency fee escalating at certain levels of recovery.<sup>3</sup> Mr. Wawro, who has the highest of the Susman Godfrey rates, bills at $875 per hour. Shapiro Sher lawyers charge between $220 and $595 per hour. The Trustee's projections show that the entire aggregate fee... i.e., the combined reduced hourly and contingency-based fee proposed in the Trustee's application ... is likely to be about 30% of the ultimate recovery (for the two firms combined). This strikes the Court as within the range of reasonable.

Courts in this district generally have considered a 40% contingency fee to be reasonable in high-stakes litigation involving a bankruptcy trustee. A 40% contingency fee was approved in In re Merry-Go-Round, 244 B.R. 327 (Bankr. D. Md. 2000), and, more recently in 2014, in Commerce, LLC, Case No. 13-12598, (Bankr. D. Md.) [dkt no. 467]. A 40% contingency fee was also approved in recently concluded litigation in this very Chapter 11 case - a separate adversary proceeding against Barclay's Capital conducted in the United States District Court, Sher v. Barclays Capital, Inc., Case No. 11-CV-01982 (ELH). The Committee cited cases approving smaller contingency fees, but did not bring to this Court's attention any pertinent cases in this district, and did not convince the Court that a smaller contingency is appropriate in this case.

<sup>3</sup> The Trustee requested, with the United States Trustee's and the Committee's support, that information such as the recovery levels at which compensation increases not be disclosed to the Trustee's litigation adversaries -- the defendant banks because the litigation advantage they would gain. The Court recognized this, and does not disclose herein those levels.

Factor Two: Whether the parties involved are business entities with equal bargaining power who engaged in an arms-length negotiation. (The relationship between the Trustee and the professionals).

The parties are all sophisticated. Mr. Wawro and his firm previously represented the Trustee in this district in litigation against Barclay's Capital. The professionals involved are familiar with one another and are on equal negotiating footing.

Factor Three: Whether the retention, as proposed, is in the best interests of the estate.

A trustee has discretion in selecting his counsel and the bankruptcy court should interfere with the trustee's choice of counsel "only in the rarest cases." In re Smith, 507 F.3d 64 (2d. Cir. 2007). The Court finds no abuse of the Trustee's discretion, and finds that the selection of, and the proposed compensation for Susman Godfrey and Shapiro Sher are well within the bounds of the Trustee's business judgment. Based on the evidence presented, the retentions as proposed are also in the best interests of the estate.

The Trustee has proposed that six lawyers will staff this litigation - - three from each of the two law firms. The two law firms have worked extensively in the past, and work well in collaboration. The estate will benefit from having attorneys who have knowledge of the businesses, have worked together before, have litigation experience, are willing to shoulder financial burden and have sufficient litigation muscle at their disposal to meet the resources of the defendants in this case --- large, well-heeded financial institutions represented by major national law firms. There is no evidence that the estate could acquire what is needed on lesser terms. The estate's best interests are served by having these capable, reputable and substantial litigation counsel to represent it in the Adversary Proceeding.

Factor Four: Whether there is creditor opposition to the retention and retainer provisions.

Obviously, the Creditor's Committee has objected to the proposed retention. The court has considered its objection in the balance, but as discussed herein, has largely rejected the arguments made by the Committee in support of its objection.<sup>4</sup>

Factor Five: Whether, given the size, circumstances and posture of the case, the amount of any retainer is itself reasonable, including whether the retainer provides the appropriate level of "risk minimization," especially in light of the existence of any other "risk-minimizing" devices, such as an administrative order and/or a carve-out.

No retainer is to be paid in this case. The "risk minimization" in the proposed arrangement is the contemplated ongoing payment of fees at hourly rates (albeit only at reduced rates, and only with Court approval).

The Committee believes that the risk in this case is reduced, and that the Court should reject or modify the proposed fee structure, because the case has already survived a motion to dismiss. As a result of the motion to dismiss, the Bankruptcy Court pared down the claims from about $1.8 billion to about $1.3 billion. There remain, however, five defendants and five separate defenses. The defendant financial institutions each have retained appropriately large and accomplished litigation counsel to represent them (at whatever rates the parties have agreed upon privately).

<sup>4</sup> The Court notes that Matlin Patterson, the largest unsecured creditor of these estates and the lead investor for the senior subordinate bonds in the approximate amount of $1.1 billion, (who is not a member of the Committee), did not object. The Trustee proffered that he consulted with Matlin Patterson about law firms to assist in prosecuting the Adversary Proceeding.

Based on the Trustee's projections, the Trustee's firms (together) seek less than a 40% contingency. Indeed, the firms may be paid much less than this and it could be years (if ever) before they are paid anything more than their reduced hourly rate.

Susman Godfrey and Shapiro Sher place themselves at substantial financial risk in undertaking this engagement. Although the case has survived a motion to dismiss, there are no assurances of a recovery and certainly no assurances of a timely resolution.

Based on the foregoing, the Court concludes that the Trustee has carried his burden to demonstrate that the retention of Susman Godfrey and Shapiro Sher to act as co-counsel to the Trustee in the Adversary Proceeding, on the proposed terms, is appropriate, with one exception. As to the Committee points out in its objection the proposed retention terms contemplate creation of a lien in favor of Susman Godfrey. The Committee objects to the lien. Such a lien is not, in this Court's experience, customary. There has been no evidence presented nor explanation given as to why it is reasonable in these circumstances. The Court will not approve the fee structure proposed to the extent that it creates a lien in favor of counsel. The Committee's objection is sustained to the extent of its opposition to the lien, and overruled as to the remainder of the objection. The Trustee's application otherwise is APPROVED.
